2012 New York State Senate Graduate Fellowships

The Graduate Fellowships offered by the Senate include Legislative Fellowships and Memorial Fellowships.

Legislative Fellowships

Each Legislative Fellow is assigned to a specific Senator's office, where they will function largely as if they were regular staff. While duties vary depending on the needs of the member, Legislative Fellows generally perform in-depth policy research, take part in meetings with various interest groups and constituents, and attend legislative sessions.

Memorial Fellowships

Memorial Fellowships are awarded to applicants who demonstrate the unique qualifications and abilities required of each position. There are three such placements, each awarded to a single individual for the Fellowship class.

- Roth Fellowship - The recipient of the Roth Fellowship will be placed in the Senate Majority Press Office. The Roth Fellowship requires extraordinary communications skills and an ability to explain policy positions quickly and concisely to the media and to the broader public.
- Wiebe Fellowship - The recipient of the Wiebe Fellowship is placed in the Majority Counsel/Program Services Office, and works on a variety of policy areas of interest to the Senate Majority Conference. Wiebe Fellows demonstrate broad interests in all areas of public policy in New York State.
- Biggane Fellowship - The recipient of the Biggane Fellowship will be placed with the Senate Finance Committee. The Biggane Fellow focuses on budget and/or fiscal matters, and will be involved in the budgetary process – one of the Senate's primary responsibilities to the people of New York.

Application deadline is Friday, April 15, 2011.

All Senate fellowships are on-site in Albany, New York. Fellowships are not financial aid for academic work, on-campus or classroom study. Housing in Albany is the responsibility of the Fellow.

A Grant-in-Study Stipend is awarded - $32,000 - distributed in biweekly installments pro-rated from the first day to the last day of enrollment.

Fellows must be United States citizens.

INTERN IN MILITARY CHILD AND YOUTH PROGRAMS

A partnership between the Cooperative Extension System and the Department of Defense has provided the funding for a national, military childcare/youth development internship program. Through this initiative, students and recent graduates have the opportunity to develop professional skills in childcare and youth development through practical work experience with military children, youth, and families.

Interns are placed on military installations across the United States with limited opportunities for international placement and receive an hourly wage or stipend and assistance with travel expenses for their efforts. Current students may obtain academic credit for this experience if desired.

The Military Extension Internship Program is now accepting applications for the Spring 2012 Semester through September 30. Students will be notified of their application's status around November 1.

More information and application materials can be found at www.ydae.purdue.edu/military but specific questions regarding the internships may be referred to: Amy Schott, Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service Internship Coordinator, at aeschott@purdue.edu

Thursday, September 22, 2011
Terrace at the Statler Hotel, 7pm

SC Johnson knows that great brands don't just happen – they are built by teams led by high performers. Investing in people is how the company has become one of the top brand management companies in the world.

You know our products - Shout®, Windex®, Ziploc®, Glade®, Raid®, OFF!®, Pledge®, Scrubbing Bubbles®, Drano® - you use them all the time.

SC Johnson has been making great products like these for more than a hundred years, and the same family that started the company still owns and runs it today. For over a century, spanning five generations, the Johnson family has demanded the best for families everywhere. We are now in over 100 countries, trying in each to make a positive difference in people's lives.

SC Johnson leads the marketplace across its categories with a commitment to innovation that defines the market, whether it's in air care, insect control, home cleaning, shave preparation or home storage. How do we do it? By leading the business world in cutting-edge practices that attract the best people to our ranks. Our Cornell recruiting program and summer internships allow us to identify the top candidates each year to fill positions in Brand Management.

We are giving an informational session on brand management presented by current marketing employees at SCJ. Please come by on September 22nd if you are interested in brand management as a career or would like to learn more about this exciting and dynamic field. We will also be discussing our summer internship program for 2012. Refreshments will be provided.

In addition, if you are a junior or senior interested in learning more about brand management in addition to the SC Johnson presentation, please consider applying to the SC Johnson Day in the Life Program to get a real-life idea of what a career in brand management is like. See the attached file for more information.

Come see why SC Johnson's culture has impressed generations of Cornellians.

If you have any questions, please contact Jon Bellante at jbellant@scj.com
